

Breakfast Group Gives Donation

See Breakfast Group pg 3

COMMUNITYCOURIER - Downingtown, Exton Edition - February 8, 2012 - 3

Breakfast Group

from pg 1

The Martin Luther King Breakfast Group (MLKBG) recently donated $3,000 to the Brandywine Health Foundation's Coatesville Youth Initiative (CYI).

The Martin Luther King Breakfast Group is made up of community-minded African-American men from the Coatesville area and beyond. The group started with two dozen men meeting for breakfast at Shady Maple restaurant in honor of Martin Luther King Day five years ago. Since then, it has grown to a gathering of almost 300 men, who are formalizing an organization to provide inspiration to each other and make an impact in their community. The CYI is the group's inaugural grant recipient. For more information on the MLKBG, readers may call Earl Johnson at 610-269-6059.

Pictured on front: Members of the Martin Luther King Breakfast Group (MLKBG) presented a check for $3,000 to representatives of the

Brandywine Health Foundation and its Coatesville Youth Initiative (CYI). Receiving the donation were Chaya Scott (second from left), CYI director, and

Frances Sheehan (far right), the foundation's president and chief executive officer. Representing MLKBG were (from left) Lloyd Asparagus Jr.; Earl Johnson;

Harry Lewis Jr., who is also chairman of the foundation's board of directors; and Cleo Alston, also a foundation board member.